President's Message

I saw a cartoon today...

Look at the calendar for 2020 and all of the empty spaces...think of all the things that will be written in the spaces...the trips, the appointments, the Chocolate event, the Scholarships that will be given, See's schedules [ok, I added those last 3] — it is history that hasn't happened yet. Let's make it count.

A 40 year old woman from Livingston, MT just broke the record for the longest space flight by a woman—288 days by Electrical Engineer, Christina Koch. Way to go Christina!

BOOK CORNER

Two friends recommended this book to me: WHERE THE CRAWDADS SING by Delia Owens and I'm glad because it was excellent! There's a lot about nature, family, relationships and an interesting twist.

Another well-written book that I read recently was EVERY LAST ONE by Anna Quindlen. There are well-developed characters and an unusual story line and I would read it again, but it is sad.

One more: A LETTER TO MY DOG is not a novel; it has page after page of wonderful photographs of pets and letters of appreciation by their owners. Some are humorous and some are just sweet.
